MANUFACTURING EXCELLENCE

UK air pistols are calibrated as follows:
HW 40 – 2.8 ft. lbs. Target / Leisure
HW 75 – 2.5 ft. lbs. Target / Leisure
HW 44 – 5.8ft. lbs. Target / Leisure

HW 44

The HW 44 is based on the action of the acclaimed and innovative HW 110 pre-charged pneumatic rifle. However, the HW 44 pistol boasts some very impressive features of its own. The frame incorporates two Picatinny rails, the bottom one would lend itself well to a laser for fast fire shooting and the top one is perfectly positioned for a scope. The chassis is constructed from ballistic polymer, a high-tech material capable of withstanding stresses and strains. The action has a built-in air reservoir with 200 bar, integral pressure gauge and quick-fill equipment, with the .22 calibre reaching around 125 shots per fill. The HW 44 boasts a multi-shot firing system, based on a 10-shot magazine and two of these are supplied with the pistol. The manual safety catch is ambidextrous with levers on both sides of the action. The semi anatomical grips offer excellent fit and support for both left and right handers.

INNOVATION

The HW 100 BP is the latest adaptation of the HW100 design, bringing a timeless classic into the modern era.

From its black soft touch stock to its raised and ventilated weaver scope rail, everything about the Bullpup screams modern. Everything people have come to love about the HW 100 is present on the BP, plus a few effective tweaks for example the safety catch can now be operated on both sides.

The Bullpups stand out feature however is the shortness of the model compared to the other HW 100 models and yet still manages the same amount of shots offered by the full length models. Another of the HW 100 BP's real advantage is its handling, the shorter length means the gun is lightning fast to aim as the weight sits closer to the shooter.

After celebrating 120 years of manufacturing in 2019, it's safe to say the renowned German engineers are manufacturing for the modern day hunter.

New HW 100 BP

Launched in May 2019 after much anticipation.

The new HW 100 Bullpup proves that accuracy and mobility can be on point, while balance is not compromised.

Born from the famous HW 100 series, the HW 100 Bullpup is based on Weihrauch's renowned mainframe – providing ultimate performance. The rifle features a black, ambidextrous soft-touch stock and Weihrauch's distinguished two-stage match trigger. With exceptional German technical configuration the balance of the rifle has been fine tuned. An overall length of 83cm and weighing in at 3.7kg you can be assured the bullpup will be steady when pointing.

New HW 100 BP K

Extra features of HW 100 BP include a picatinny rail, which can be removed, ambidextrous pistol grip and adjustable butt plate.

"The best scope rail I've ever encountered" Terry Doe, Airgun Shooting Magazine.

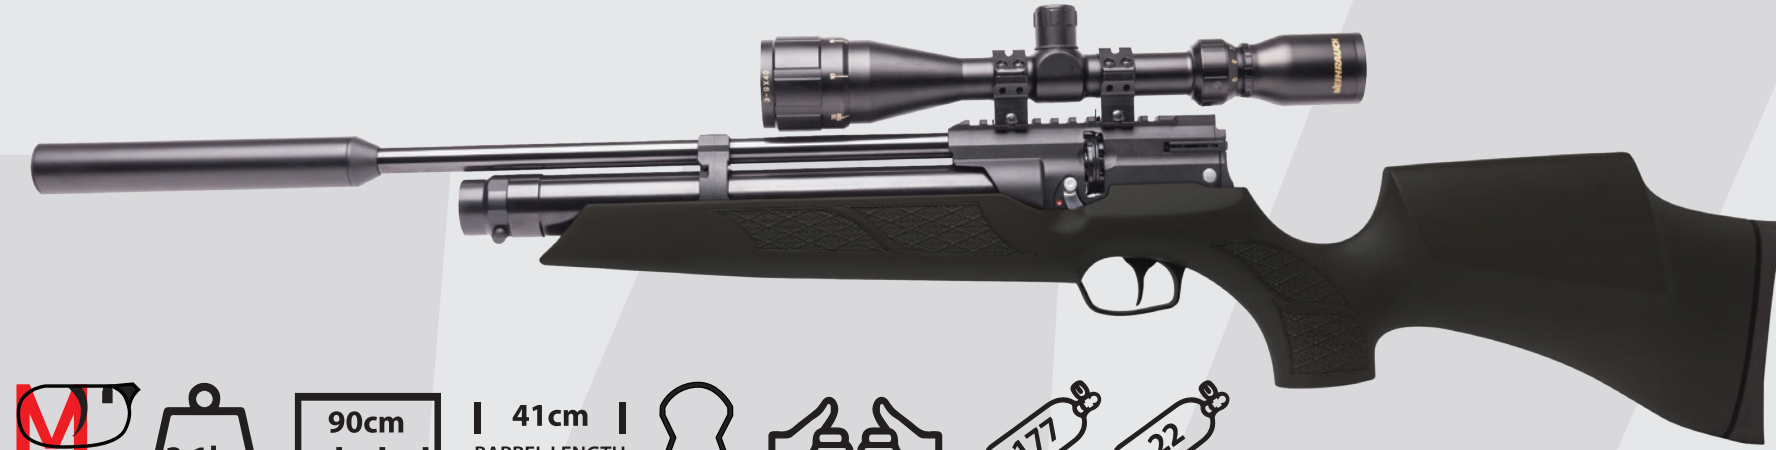

HW 110 ST Soft Touch

The highly innovative HW 110 astounded the airgun market when it was launched with its ground-breaking use of new and high-tech materials and clever design. It features a classic beachwood sporter style stock that's covered in a soft-touch finish, making it pleasant to hold and completely weather resistant. The action is moulded in a black ballistic polymer, which is state of the art and incredibly tough material that makes it an engineering masterpiece. A 12cm Picatinny rail is integral to the top of the action block which gives the ability to swap a day scope for night vision, without the need to re-zero. The action has a side cocking lever. This is a less expensive and lighter option to the classic HW 100 family of rifles.

New HW 110 KT Grey Laminate

Available from March 2020

HW 110 K Soft Touch

This variant may be shorter than the original but accuracy and power are identical. Its modest weight and dimensions make for a handy hunting rifle. It features an added Picatinny rail below its forend to accept accessories such as a laser or a lamp.

HW 97 SERIES

A legendary spring powered underlever air rifle especially developed for field-target shooting.

Often referred to in the press as the Flagship Springer this monumental piece of airgun engineering is robust, powerful and can produce groups that are up there with quality pre-charged pneumatic rifles.

Solid, traditional engineering means that Weihrauch's are built to do a job. The 97 K's weight is every bit its advantage, these guns shoot better when they have a bit of weight behind them, it helps manage recoil and keep you smoothly on the aim.

The HW 97 K feels every inch an adult sporting airgun, and since it tips the scales at over 4kg, this is definitely a serious tool for the more mature shooter.

They are the ideal choice for the long-distance shooter who values performance combined with minimum recoil. HW 57

A compact sporter that comes packed with performance. It's fitted with an easy cocking under lever action and self-opening breech, giving you the finest possible combination of usability, safety and fixed - barrel accuracy. It boasts full-specification Rekord trigger, an auto-reset safety, lacquered hardwood sporter stock, fully adjustable open sights and scope mounting grooves - all built to Weihrauch's renowned standards - this is the biggest little rifle you can buy.

Available in calibres .177 and .22
N.B. Calibre .177 - 10.5ft. lbs. only

HW 95 K + H.E.S.

The HW 95 K is a full powered yet lightweight all-round rifle. The high efficiency silencer (H.E.S.) comes as standard and does an outstanding job of deadening the sound. The stock is slim and elegant, yet purposeful with a raised cheek piece and chequered grip. This is a hunting rifle that can also be used as a high-end plinker. Although a Karbine length, the solid build keeps cocking the barrel to a minimal effort. Cocking the rifle also sets the safety, which just needs to be pushed from right to left to disengage.

Available in calibres .177 and .22

HW 99 S

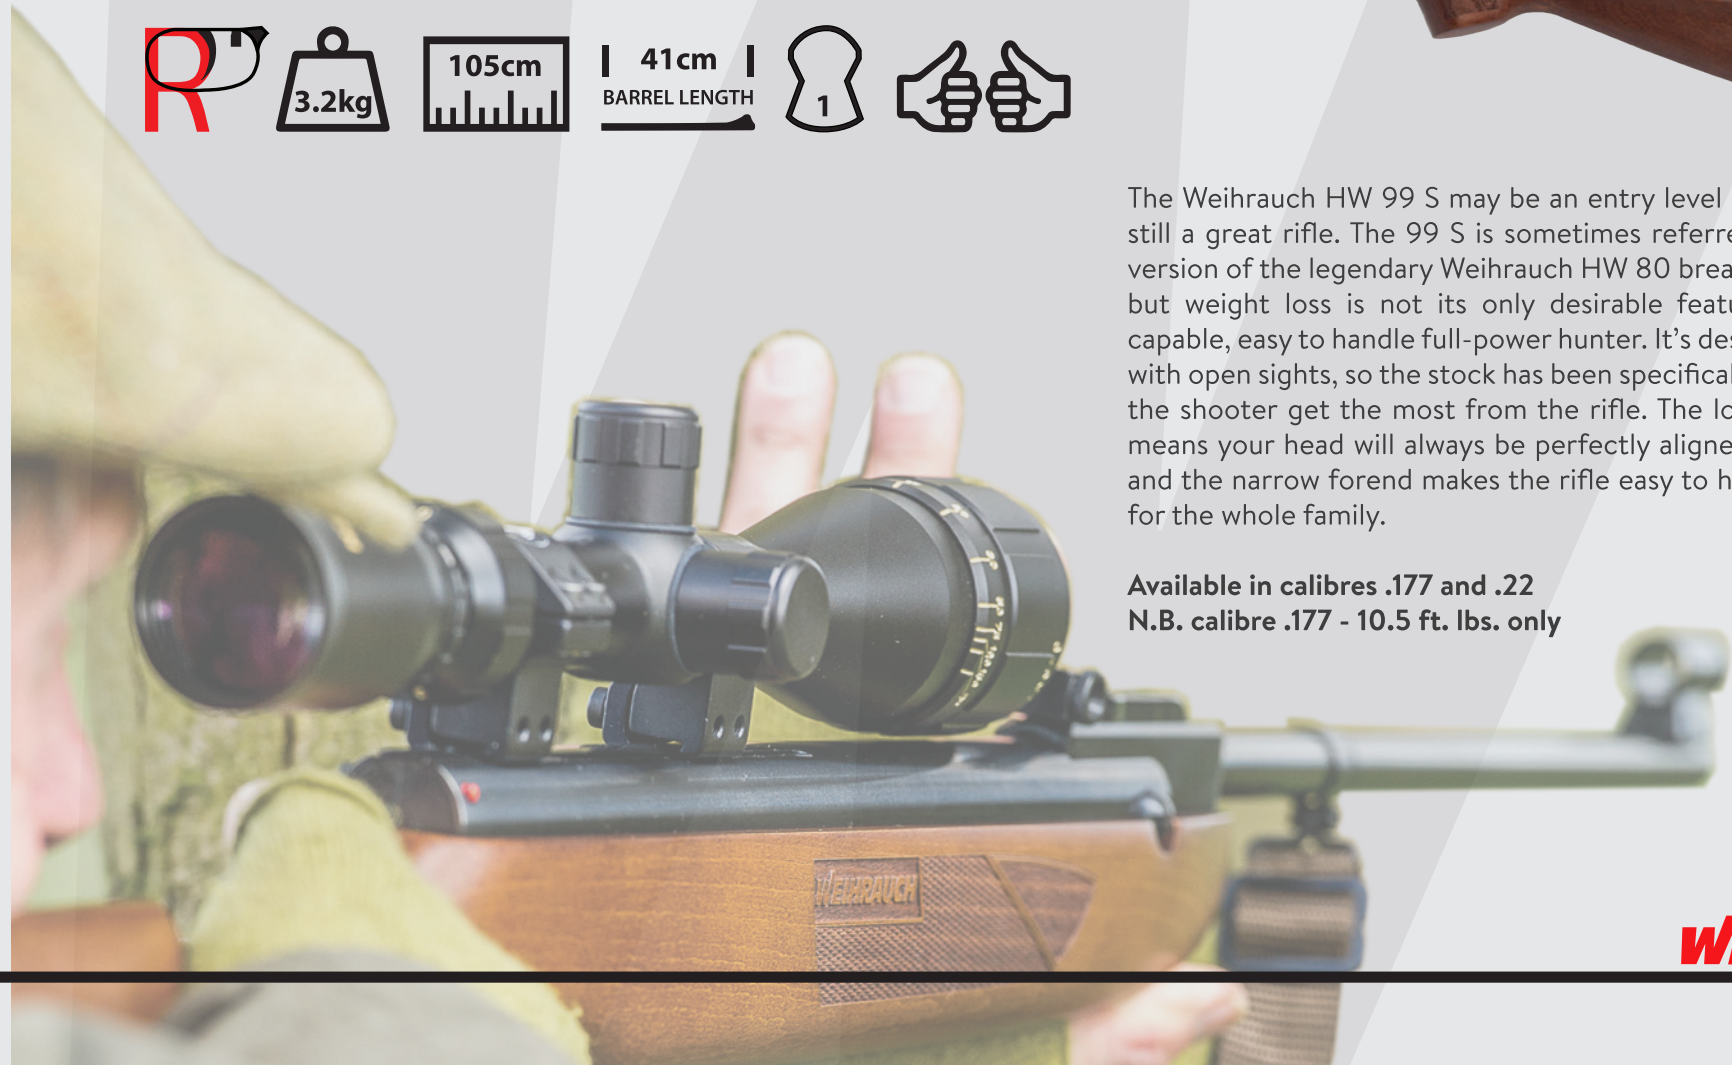

The Weihrauch HW 99 S may be an entry level springer, but it is still a great rifle. The 99 S is sometimes referred to as a lighter version of the legendary Weihrauch HW 80 break barrel springer, but weight loss is not its only desirable feature: it's a highly capable, easy to handle full-power hunter. It's designed to be used with open sights, so the stock has been specifically shaped to help the shooter get the most from the rifle. The lower cheek piece means your head will always be perfectly aligned with the sights and the narrow forend makes the rifle easy to hold. A perfect fit for the whole family.

Available in calibres .177 and .22
N.B. calibre .177 - 10.5 ft. lbs. only

HW 98

A stunning walnut stock design, featuring black grips and aesthetic cooling vents, this rifle is not only striking, but boasts technical superiority produced only by Weihrauch. It's the only spring gun in the range to feature an adjustable stock with an adjustable rubber butt pad and therefore the rifle will fit you like a glove. With the adjustable height cheek piece, this rifle was built for scope use. It's a substantial rifle and the heavy barrel shroud makes it steadier on the aim and mutes the effect of the spring piston recoil properties. As with the majority of the range, the 98 is fitted with the highly adjustable Rekord trigger unit which can be set to suit any taste and will deliver first-class shot release every time.

Available in calibres .177 and .22

HW 90 K + H.E.S.

This superb rifle is a unique model in the Weihrauch range. The Weihrauch HW 90 K is built around the unique patented Theoben gas ram system, offering super-fast lock time and ultra-high performance, beating many conventional spring piston guns. Any rifle is nothing without a decent trigger and the HW 90 is no exception. It boasts the unique Elite trigger unit that bears many similarities to its much-lauded brother, the Rekord trigger unit. A new stock design incorporates an extended forearm and a high cheek-piece, chequering on the pistol grip, a rubber butt plate and a high-efficiency silencer.

Available in calibres .177 and .22

HW 80 K + H.E.S.

Almost certainly the best break-barrel air rifle available, the legendary HW 80 is often considered as 'the ultimate work-horse'. The robust construction, excellent accuracy and the powerful mainspring guarantees extraordinary efficiency and penetration power especially at longer distances. Weighing in at 3.9kg this rifle isn't for the faint hearted, but bear in mind how weight in general can play a big part in absorbing recoil and be an aid to steady shooting in many scenarios. Combine the slick firing cycle, super smooth cocking stroke with the crisp release point of the Rekord trigger and you have yourself a design to set the benchmark for break barrel rifles.

Available in calibres .177 and .22

HW 35 K

This is a timeless classic and one of the original high-performance break barrels on the market that set the benchmark for rivals to follow. The HW 35 K has a unique barrel locking system that ensures that the barrel is always perfectly aligned to maximise accuracy. It's fitted with open sights plus an attractive beechwood stock with stylish finger grooves and rich bluing that Weihrauch is so famous for. It's a truly classic rifle that has been subtly modified and improved over the years to keep it at the front of the pack.

Available in calibres .177 and .22

HW 30 SF Sporter Fixed front sight

The perfect light-weight, well balanced rifle for junior or novice shooters. Don't be fooled, this isn't a watered-down version of the legendary Weihrauch quality build. This is a mini version of everything Weihrauch stands for.

Beautifully grained beechwood stock, automatic safety, 2-stage Rekord trigger, ambidextrous stock and rubber butt plate. The stock's dimensions have been sensibly reduced to suit smaller shooters which makes for controlled, relaxed shooting. These rifles are fitted with open sights.
